inTEST Corporation's COVID-19 Business Status

Information for Our Customers, Suppliers, Employees, and Investors

PLEASE NOTE: inTEST Corporation's business units, inTEST EMS, inTEST Thermal Solutions, and Ambrell have been deemed critical and essential business operations under our government's current COVID-19 mandate.

For the most up-to-date information about our business status, see the letter below.

25 March 2020

To Our Valued Business Partners:

I want to update you on the business status of inTEST Corporation, given the evolving challenges and government directives related to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Business Operations

Our corporate offices and business units: inTEST EMS, inTEST Thermal Solutions, and Ambrell are operational, taking all precautions to ensure the safety of our employees, customers, and business partners, while continuing to provide worldwide sales, service and support including:

New Unit Production - Our products are being manufactured daily and our standard lead times are intact.

Applications, Service and Support - Our team is prepared to provide the responsive assistance you require including an ample supply of spare parts ready for immediate shipment.

New Applications - We are prepared to help develop any applications you require; sales and applications teams are available to discuss and make recommendations to assist in solving your technical challenges.

Safety

We have implemented workplace safeguards to protect our employees and ensure their health and well-being. We have a significant number of employees who have been authorized to work from home and they've been provided all the tools and technology necessary to be at your service. Our remaining employees in the factories are following WHO and CDC-recommended practices. In fact, we've been highly proactive in providing our factory workers with separated workstations, sufficient supplies of sanitizers, placement of educational materials throughout the plant, promoting personal hygiene guidelines for social distancing and more.

Should you have any questions about the above information, please don't hesitate to contact inTEST Corporation. We're here to fulfill your needs and expectations.

Thank you for your continued trust in inTEST during these unprecedented times.

Kind regards,
James Pelrin
President & CEO
